

Diversity Dialogues: Allies in Interfaith

Please join us for a conversation and workshop with:

Katie Gordon, the program manager of the Kaufman Interfaith Institute as well as interfaith services coordinator with the Division of Inclusion & Equity, both at Grand Valley State University in Grand Rapids, Michigan. In her work, she uses programs centered on interfaith dialogue and cooperation as a tool to create a more accepting, understanding, and inclusive campus and community.

Aaminah Khan, an Australian-born activist of Pakistani and Turkish descent currently living in the American south. Zie has been a staff writer for The Rainbow Hub and has had zer writing featured in The Huffington Post, Black Girl Dangerous, The Progressive and elsewhere. Zie blogs, tweets and posts pictures of zer food as jaythenerdkiid.

Thursday, April 21, 2016

HSC, Regency Room

6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

This event is free and open to the public. Free parking is available in the parking garage and the visitor lot.

This dialogue is sponsored by the Office of the President.

For more information, go to: go.niu.edu/diversity.

Northern Illinois
University

STU INV & LEAD DEV

APR 21 2016

10422

VOID AFTER

POSTER LOG#